SINO-JAPANESE RAPPROCHE-
MENT FORESEENWhat China's Leaders Seek
THE SUBTLE POLICE OF
VERY ABLE MEN

(By UPTON CLOSE)

(SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY PRESS")

Peiping, Aug. 22.

With a Japanese bayonet at her back China stands "stalling" for time. General Araki has called off his war dogs to see whether the new Japanese-speaking cohorts of young men at the head of China is going to take Japanese domination and "like it." He personally has not much hope, as evidenced by an interview in which he opined that the "Tanku" truce is temporary, because no Chinese leaders can be trusted. But there is a wanton enthusiasm in Japan over further brilliant military exploits in Asia and a growing concern over closing markets and unbalanced budget. General Araki thought it well to halt—even, in a fashion, to withdraw to the Great Wall, however leaving the area as far as Peiping in the grip of Japanese-controlled forces.

Japanese Pressure

But Japanese pressure is not for a moment lifted. General Wu Teh Chen, dapper Mayor of Shanghai, graduate of Japan's Imperial Military College, who outranks General Chiang Kai Shek in seniority in the Nationalist Party, outstanding in prestige since he outlasted both war and peace with Japan in his city said to me: "Now comes a push on the political front, followed by one on the economic front. It both fall, it will be the military again!"

The young Japanese-educated Chinese government heads to import Japanese dictation as fast as they can "put it over" on their own people. The Chinese Nationalist Party on the other hand expects them to be a dam against further Japanese ingress.

The Chinese are the ablest people on earth at finding means to delay taking a seemingly inevitable course. Nothing could have been cleverer at this moment than putting young military men of large Japanese experience in the place of the eliminated young Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang in north China. I have had opportunity to meet these men intimately, some of them I have known since their school days, and I feel that they are as capable and courageous a group as can be found sitting on the tack of authority anywhere in the world to-day. They are quite the most unified, simple and direct group that has been in power in post-revolutionary China.

China's Able Leaders.

On the front line is General Huang Fu, supreme civil head in the north, negotiator of the Tangku Truce, which kept Japanese troops from devastating Tientsin and Peiping—a sensitive, highly intelligent and cultured man of fifty-two who meets the threat of Japanese military men and of patriotic assassins of his own nation alike with a most disarming smile. He is now living and working—dressed in wing collar and striped "diplomatic trousers"—in that most beautiful part of the Imperial City which intermittently for fifteen years was the "White House" of China's unfortunate "presidents." In the "next trench" is the Nanking Government's Minister of War and Chiang Kai Shek's military commander in the north, General Ho Yin Ching, a young and handsome, dignified, democratic man who tends strictly to military business. Next in importance is stocky, kindly Mr. Yuan Liang, Mayor of Peiping, whose shape and bearing exude confidence. He might be a great success as city manager of any American municipality. Although General Huang Fu is so much older, all three of these men, if I have it right, were class mates of the Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek in the Imperial Japanese Military College: all have held active military command.

Their staffs consist of vigorous young men in their late twenties or early thirties, men of recent Japanese experience, augmented in some cases by training in France or Germany. Notable are Mr. Tsai Yuan, who is in charge of foreign relations as well as Peiping's ancient palaces, temples and treasures; the young Commissioner of Public Works who in this disturbed time is paying Peiping's streets and cleaning up her ancient "hutings" and the scarcely thirty-year old but entirely self-reliant Chiefs of Police and Gendarmerie Pao of Peiping and Ning of Tientsin. One can not help but draw a contrast with the personnel of the present reactionary Japanese government, whose civil heads average in the seventies and military chiefs in the sixties.

The Yangtze Group

Behind the official array in the north is the group on the Yangtze, to-day in supreme command over more of China than any group has hitherto been since the revolution. Its members also are Japanese educated. Whereas two years ago three fifths of the Nanking Cabinet officials were American-university graduates, to-day with the sole exception of T. V. Soong, Finance Minister, Japanese-educated and speaking officials comprise China's supreme council. There is Chairman Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek himself, usually called "president" of the Chinese government; there is Mayor Wu of Shanghai; there is the Chief of the Executive Yuan, commonly called China's Premier, Wang Ching Wei, head of the wing in power of the Kuomintang Party and favourite disciple of Sun Yat Sen. Aside from his own language, this soft-spoken, quizzical-eyed, scholarly, poetic-appearing politician, usually taken to be in his early thirties by westerners but actually oldest of the ruling group, speaks Japanese and French. He spent years in Japan in refuge with his sainted master, who had a legion of highly placed Japanese friends, whose last public orations were passionate pleas for Oriental unity made to Osaka and Kobe audiences.

Now this situation means a startling re-orientation in China's international outlook. These young men have never despised Japan as has too freely the American-educated officialdom of the past. Nor, at the same time, have they feared their neighbour so much. They have personal friends and pleasant contacts and occasions to look back to in Japan. They have tasted the charm of Japanese womanhood. They have an understanding of the basic Japanese psychology of insecurity. They know the eccentricity and individuality of Japanese minds, and how by only the most drastic iron control and promoted fanaticism are Japanese held together as a unit against the outside world. And they know what slender resources exist to back up the frothing ambitions of the military.

Most important of all, they have never been close enough to the western world or its "treaty idealism" (which after all has been as much inspired by the desire to get out of complications cheaply as by high ethics) to have come to rely upon America and the League members for protection from their militant neighbour. And so, they are not now so hurt at us for letting them down since September 18, 1931, as the westernized diplomatic group which looked to us for protection. Having seen how Japan took care of herself, they are less inclined to curse her and more inclined to lay the blame for what has happened on the lethargy of their own nation.

To Save Themselves

They expect to have to save themselves, or at least to receive only such help from the Powers as is the by-product of the Powers' actions in defense of their own selfish interests. Their background and training permit them to go at this salvation in the oriental manner: by temporization with superior force while back E.M.F. slowly and surely puts the brake on its energy.

But if the Japanese expansionists think that this Japanese-educated group is in their service they are due for bitter disappointment and that is what General Araki was sensing when he said that no Chinese leaders could be trusted. The charges made by political "outs" at Canton fall flat. If I am not entirely mistaken in Huang Fu and Ho Yin Ching and Chiang Kai Shek they are far from ready to lick the samurai hand. Behind a screen of acquiescence they are getting ready just as Russia is getting ready. Chiang continues to build his air force. If in addition he can adequately fortify and mine the Yangtze River he need not greatly fear. His men, skilled in Japanese etiquette and subterfuge, are making it as hard as is Russia for Nippon's army chiefs to find a pretext to move again. They even answer softly Japan's arrogant protest—as if China were already world-recognized as her vassal—against their purchase of wheat from U.S.A. There is no open boycott in Central or North China now—only in Canton which is bold in its security behind the British interests at Hong Kong. However, Chinese customers just aren't buying Japanese. Japan's China trade has sprung back 30 per cent—and remains there.

Having once stopped and set their own boundary at the Great

HOW TO READ THE GOSPELS

THE GOSPELS AND OUR ATTITUDE TO LIFE AS A WHOLE

"CAVALCADE" OR CALVARY

At St. John's Cathedral yesterday Bishop Hall preached the third of his series of sermons on "How to Read the Gospels."

The Bishop said: The Gospels do not contain a set of principles for the guidance of our life. Rather they describe in the life of Jesus a way of life, and attitude to life, which claims all living for God and haunts us with their offer of that way of life to us. The Gospels in fact insist that the meaning of life is not Cavalcade, but Calvary.

Since the performance in the King's Theatre last Wednesday night typhoon winds have been busy in my mind. The film Cavalcade stressed vividly, sentimentally, terribly, the issue I had planned to raise with you this morning. The issue has become for me sharpened and insistent.

Is the meaning of life 'Cavalcade' or 'Calvary'?

Must we toast the New Year with dignity, courage, and sentiment; or, lay gold, increase, and myth before the manger in Bethlehem? Is life one long succession of sun-determined seasons—days shortening, days lengthening, days warming, days cooling; or is there some meaning in the words 'Anno Domini'? Is the 'A.D.' more important than the '1933'?

Is the series Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter, more important than the succession of the Church's year, Christmas, Good Friday, Easter, Whitsunday? Are the holidays only, or are they 'holy' days? Is the meaning of God and man the secret of life itself to be found in them?

Last Wednesday's film asked that question—insistently, sentimentally, terribly. Did that way-side Calvary, standing by the side of the endless crucifixion of countless other sons of men, mean that the Son of Man is just one among those thousands, a helpless broken body beaten by a cruel world? Or, is the meaning of heroism, love, man, God, Himself, in that broken figure?

Is the illuminated Cross of St. Paul's Cathedral a pathetic aspiration or a profound answer to the teeming questions of the life of London and the world of men? Please realise that this is the vital question of the day. Realise too that the pathetic person preaching to empty pews is a true picture of our failure as Christians. Realise too that it is not enough to say "I only men and women would do as we do, all would be well." It is quite clear to-day that it is what we Christians are that keeps others from Christ.

I am a fundamentalist: a complete, determined, emphatic, fundamentalist. Because Christ was a fundamentalist, no Christian can be any other. He went to the foundations of life to see whether or not they were sound. He could tell rock from sand, and knew that manure must be dug in to the roots where it cannot be seen if trees are to bear fruit. Let those of us who profess and call ourselves Christians look to our foundations. Is our religion an interest, and our Bible reading a hobby, or is God the great reality of all our life?

Can we answer the world's question? Is life for us just an endless 'Cavalcade' or is it the meaning in 'Calvary'? Is this only the year 1933, or is it the year of the Lord? Is life just an endless procession, or has the Kingdom of God come into the world, and are we living for that Kingdom?

"How Are We To Know?"

There are three things at least that can be said:—

1. Notice first of all that Jesus would give no answer to those who said, "How are we to know?" He would give no sign to those who sought a sign, except the sign of the prophet Jonah.

In Matthew's account of this sign giving, you will find these words, "for as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the whale, so the Son of Man shall be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." These words are not in St. Luke. If they are omitted in St. Matthew, as I believe they should be, the next verse gives like St. Luke to deeper significance to the sign. Its meaning becomes this "Nineveh repented when Jonah preached." When the Ninevites heard the truth they accepted it. Or, as St. John puts it, "He came unto His own and they received Him not: but as many as received Him to them gave He power."

That is still true. The central challenge of the Gospels is simple the truth of Jesus, and His way of life. You are free to take it or leave it. And if you ask, "How can I know that God is like that?" there is no answer but the sign of the prophet Jonah.

The Meaning of Calvary

What is the answer of Calvary. How adequate is that answer for you and me to-day to-morrow, and down the long avenue of to-morrows?

You can see the light in Calvary best in the life set towards the Cross, from the wilderness on, Jesus' life is one long struggle with evil.

The Gospels do not say where evil comes from. They show evil being defeated. That is exactly the reverse of ourselves. We know all about how evil came to us. It was some repression in childhood, or some injustice in youth, that caused this or that moral weakness to-day. What we most want is the power to deal with evil. We have not got it? Jesus had it. How do we get it? I cannot say: there is no royal road. I cannot say how the living Christ of the Gospels will help you. He has His own way for each one. I only insist that in the Gospels you see evil mastered in a way which most of us never attempt. "Call down fire from Heaven," we cry out with the disciples—but the Lord hangs there crucified by the world's pain.

To those of us who will not face and accept His dying, He says gently but firmly, "Ye know not of what spirit ye are of." As if He would say, "No one but God can answer the problem of evil, and here in Calvary is God's answer." Surely if in that Man hanging there is indeed God, He is God indeed! God fighting evil in the human sphere, not with evil's own weapons, but with God's own weapons. And if that is how God meets evil, our lives are indeed bought with a price—not our own, but His.

NATURAL VERSUS SUPERNATURAL

For us what difference does this make? "Ye know not of what spirit ye are of." To as many as received Him to them gave He power to become the sons of God." It was when the spirit came upon Him that He heard the voice saying, "This is my beloved Son."

The Gospels offer us then "a life in the Spirit," a life as sons of God, which is other than and more than the ordinary life of men. If we call ordinary life natural, including in "natural" love, friendship, courage, dignity, prudence, tolerance, generosity, and so on, the Gospel life is more, it is supernatural life.

That is not to say that it is either a superstitious life, or an unnatural life; but, it is on another plane.

Please let me quote 'Cavalcade' again. The singer who had lost her lover and her life's meaning in the war, singing of the "Twentieth Century Blues" and the pathetic person, so typical of us all, preaching until his few hearers had the blues, are both living at the "natural" level. The Church of God has let itself sink on to the level of the natural. It has lost its supernatural radiance and power. The trustee of a triumphant message and a transforming power: it is falling miserably in its trust/ship; perhaps, because it has been content to be no more than a trustee. In this case the trustee is held as well, and can only be true to trust/ship by vigorous acceptance of her heritage.

One tragedy of this failure, is this: men and women were all made for the supernatural life. It is your heritage and mine. Being made for the supernatural, the level of the natural bores us terribly. We seek refuge in bridge and golf, and find none. We build our hopes on our children, and when they are taken from us, hide our emptiness in some form of play acting. All the time we know inside that we are empty.

THE GOSPELS HAUNTING OFFER

What then, do the Gospels say to our whole attitude to life? They do not say, "If you will read your Bible and say your prayers you will be able to live your natural life." They haunt you with

ANTI-SLAVERY CAMPAIGN

Many Meetings In England

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, August 30. A large number of anti-slavery gatherings are being organised not only in this but in other countries, several of them being civic affairs, to celebrate Britain's decision of 1833-4 and the need for securing the abolition of every form of slavery. It was in 1833 that the British Parliament decided to set all known slaves free on August 1, 1834.

The gathering addressed by Lady Simon in Rio de Janeiro a fortnight ago seems to have created wide interest in South America, and I hear that she is to be asked to address a gathering in Geneva next month. Sir John Harris is visiting Paris shortly to discuss the reviving of the French Anti-Slavery Society. The Acting Governor of the Gambia and the Governor of Sierra Leone have given the lead to meetings in both colonies, and similar meetings are being organised in Australia, New Zealand, Jamaica, and Trinidad.

In this country, amongst the more important gatherings now being arranged are Belfast, where Sir John Harris will be the speaker, Bristol, with Lord Lytton, Brighton, and Glasgow and Newcastle-on-Tyne. Two gatherings are being arranged in Liverpool Cathedral for Sunday, October 29, when Sir John Harris will deliver the addresses and the Lord Mayor of Liverpool will attend. The Lord Mayor of Hull is summoning a conference in the autumn to consider what steps Hull can take towards securing a completion of the work done by Wilberforce and Buxton. The pageant play depicting anti-slavery scenes is proving so popular that it has been necessary to secure an extra set of costumes. Several performances are to be given in different parts during the autumn.

their offer of an entirely different way of life, so different that they call it "rebirth." The venerable leader of the Jewish Church, drawn by the lifeless attraction of the Lord, is told that he must be born again. All this may seem to you strange, unreal, impossible. It can become real, possible, and your deepest experience. This is how to begin.

If in your heart you are conscious of living with a deep dissatisfaction with life, turn to the Gospels, to the Gospels as a whole. Let them haunt you, fascinate you, torture you with the promise of another way of life. And like Israel of old, wrestle with the haunting torture, and do not let it go, until it blesses you.

The attraction of the Gospels is not in their beauty, their moral counsel or their dramatic power. They haunt you with the offer of a different sort of life whose meaning is "Calvary" not "Cavalcade." They claim that "1933" is unimportant, "Anno Domini" "all" important. That the world is in God's hand, and though we can see no final answer to its problems, we can find an answer for ourselves. And that answer will enable us to take our part in working out the answer to the world's pain, and the world's problems.

And the joy of that answer will be not only in being fellow-workers, but in being fellow-workers with God.

JAPAN'S TRADE
WITH SIAM
Defeat Of Britain
Urged
SIAMESE EAGER FOR HELP

Tokyo.
Mr. Yatabe, Minister to Siam, who returned home a few days ago,
is quoted by the Asahi as advising the Japanese people to take more interest in Siam and to cultivate greater friendship with that nation.
There is no enterprise in Siam in which Japanese capital is invested, says the Minister, while Siam seems quite eager to secure the industrial development of her country by utilizing Japanese knowledge and technical skill. "In ordinary years,
Japan's direct exports to Siam amount to something like ¥12,000, 000 and her exports through Hong kong and Singapore represent about the same amount. From the country
Japan imports Saigon rice valued at ¥10,000,000 to ¥20,000,000.
Mr. Yatabe deprecates the foolish competition which is going on between Japanese exports themselves, and feels the need of proper control of this. He also stresses the need of encouraging the exports of heavy industrial goods so as to defeat Britain's monopoly in this line.

CHINESE MERCHANTS
SQUEEZE FARMERS

The fishery industry in Siam is hopeful, but the methods employed are primitive. It is necessary for Japan to supply both technical skill and capital. That country has a population of about 12,000,000, and is well disposed towards Japan.
For the future development of trade between the two countries, the Japanese Government and people must try to gain a more intimate knowledge of that country. At present, the Japanese residents in Siam number only 300. In any description of Siam, the influence of the Chinese merchants cannot be left out.

The Chinese population in that country is assumed to exceed 2,000,
000. The annual Siam trade shows a favourable balance of ¥50, 000,000, but the farmers, who constitute the major part of the Siam-ese population, live on advances from Chinese merchants. It may be said that the Siamese farmers are being squeezed by these Chinese merchants to the tune of ¥50,000,000 a year.

WHY SIAM DID NOT VOTE

In regard to Japan's political relations with Siam, Mr. Yatabe said that it is a well-known fact that the Siamese delegate in the League Assembly did not exercise his vote when the resolution against Japan on the Sino-Japanese dispute was put to the vote. This cannot, however, be readily be interpreted as a clear proof of Siamese positive friendship for Japan. Although the East accounts for more than half of the world's population, Japan, China and Siam are the only independent States in the East. If the League of Nations were allowed to meddle in the administration of Manchuria, what would be the consequences? Who could say but that the League would next go on and do likewise with regard to China?
When China was placed under inter-

Cicely Courtneidge In Dual Roles

In "Soldiers of the King," which is showing at the King's, Cicely Courtneidge takes a dual role. She is seen as the Queen of a variety troupe and as her daughter, and she does both roles with an ability and charm that is delightful. She is ably supported by Edward Everett Horton, who was such a favourite some years ago. Anthony Bushell, Frank Sellier, Bransby Williams, Arty Ash, O.B. Clarence and Dorothy Hyson, a new comer to the screen. Many other well-known players are also in the cast.

The story centres round the life of the Marvella Troupe, a famous band of variety performers. Their Queen, who has had a long reign, retires in favour of her daughter. The latter takes up the reins of leadership and is just as well-liked by her subjects as her mother was. But discord soon overtakes the happy troupe. Judie, a pretty girl, joins the troupe and is eagerly welcomed by Harry Marvella, who is to be her partner. The latter finds himself steadily falling in love with his lovely confidante and she does not think unkindly of him. They become good friends but not for long. Ronald Jamieson (Anthony Bushell) a Guardsman, joins the troupe and he and Judie are attracted to each other at once. So much so that Judie allows her romance to prevent her from turning up at a gala performance at which the old Queen, Jenny Marvella, is present. Jenny dismisses her from the troupe but the new Queen champions her cause. She gets at Ronald's Colonel, who was her lover in old days and makes him consent to the marriage. That settled, she finds herself brought to heel by her own manager, Sebastian Marvella.

The whole film is a well-enacted one and is best described as an excellent comedy romance.

when the boy is shipped off back to town, she is held behind by a sinister, menacing, big-city gangster, Trigger, who kills the one man who tries to protect her; drags her off to a lawless rooming house in the city, and keeps her there.

Blame for the murder is placed on another man, and a young lawyer who is in love with Temple is assigned to defend him. The lawyer traces Trigger, and finds Temple with him. The picture reaches a startling climax in the events that follow.

The little boy was standing in front of the rabbit-hutch. "What's twice two?" he shouted to the rabbits.

There was no response.

"What's twice two?" he repeated.

"There, I knew teacher was wrong when he said rabbits multiply quickly."

CLIVE BROOK'S FINE
ACTING

To Clive Brook his roles in Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" coming to the screen of the King's Theatre on Wednesday is more than acting a part. In many places it is like retracing the course of his own life.

The action of the picture covers the period of the last thirty-two years, winding up on this last New Year's Eve. Much of it occurs in the setting of events of world-wide significance, events that are known to all.

Brook was an active and energetic youth. Any movements of political or social importance engaged his interest. He recalls his activities during the woman suffrage riots in England. And although these play no part in this moving story of three great loves, they are associated in Brook's memory with other events in the picture that surrounded and followed.

Brook recalls several occasions when his clothes were nearly torn to shreds. Once, when he was stumping for England's valiant female would-be-voters, he was pelted with small sacks of flour that burst easily. But this was but mildly offensive compared to the barrage of odoriferous eggs for which he was target on another day.

"I remember one riot particularly well," he declared, "because I started it."

An intrepid woman was addressing a crowd composed largely of the anti-s. A husky dock worker began to call her uncompromising names. My youthful chivalry was outraged. Without thinking I struck him. On the instant, I was seized by the crowd, generously mauled and a few minutes later, was conducted at the head of a procession towards the good old Thames River.

However, he managed to break away from his captors before they could dampen his ardor and the timely arrival of police saved him from further damage.

Brook's opportunity to enter films came not as the result of his dramatic training, but of his ability to blow smoke rings. A minor part called for an actor with that talent. Brook got the assignment through a friend who happened to overhear the casting problem while it was being discussed.

In "Cavalcade" Brook feels more than perfectly at home since most of the principals in the cast were specially imported by Fox from after its successful year's run at the Drury Lane Theatre. The 25,000 extras needed for mob scenes were easily recruited from Hollywood's plethora of screen aspirants.

LOVERS"

An All-Star Cast

Appearing in RKO Radio Pictures' "Friends and Lovers" now showing at the Central Theatre, is one of the genuine all-star casts of the year.

The stars in the screen version of the popular Maurice de Kobra story are: Adolphe Menjou, star of scores of films and called the most sophisticated artist on the screen. Lily Damita, tempestuous French star, who scored in the Broadway stage success, "Sons of Guns," and recently in RKO Radio Pictures' Coward's Broadway hit "Private Lives."

Erich von Stroheim, the internationally known director and player. Laurence Olivier, London and New York stage star, who played one of the leading roles in Noel Coward's Broadway hit "Private Lives."

Hugh Herbert, versatile writer-director-comedian, whose latest screen hits are RKO Radio Pictures' "Travelling Husbands" and "Laugh and Get Rich."

"WHOOPEE"

At The Oriental Theatre

"Whoopie" now showing at the Oriental Theatre is one of those picture which give the public the money's worth in almost any direction you want. Hilarious comedy from such experts as Eddie Cantor, the star, and Ethel Shutta, tuneful songs of every variety, beautiful girls galore as only Ziegfeld can pick love-story, and a general air of lavishness make it a picture in a million.

Samuel Goldwyn has here shown that the talking colour screen can out-do the stage whenever it wants to take the trouble. "Whoopie" is a rich treat of a sort which is seldom seen.

The story, taken from Owen Davis' famous farce "The Nervous Wreck" is concerned with the adventures of an imaginary invalid on a western ranch who finds himself called on to rescue the ranchman's daughter from an unwelcome marriage. After turning her man and doing a satisfactory job of getting her married to her real lover, he finds himself in the hands of the domineering nurse who wants to marry him; but he has been anything but an invalid for a few days and refused to think himself one any longer.

This plot, with Eddie Cantor as the imaginary invalid, offers a million opportunities, none of which are missed. Both in comedy and in spectacle of which the "Invocation to the Sun" scene at the end is the most striking, "Whoopie" leaves nothing to be desired.

A CANADIAN MONSTER?

Sea-Serpent In Interior Lake!

Vancouver, Canada.—A persistent story of the "dog-days" in Canada comes year after year from the interior of British Columbia and reports the reappearance of a strange aquatic creature named by the newspapers, for what reason does not appear, "Ogopogo." Okanagan Lake is the scene of his revels, and perfectly reputable witnesses profess to have seen him, most of them describing Ogopogo as a monster with a sheep-like head and the body of a prodigious serpent, although details differ widely.

Sceptics believe Ogopogo to be nothing more substantial than an optical illusion, and the newspapers make much sport of his periodic appearance. Those who believe the lake contains a curious monster of unknown species find some confirmation of their theory in the Indian legends of the Interior.

The Indians know the sea-serpent as "Auck," and the oldest among them profess to have heard their grandfathers tell of his presence. One venerable Indian claims to have seen in his youth a bone eighteen inches long and twelve inches in diameter alleged to have come from "Auck's" back. Indian tradition tells of a magnificent deer, pursued into the water, suddenly dragged under while the water boiled as in a great cauldron; of a white man and an Indian surrounded in their canoe by a school of the monsters at play; of a fountain of water shot forty feet above the lake's surface.

Whether Ogopogo is Auck or a descendant of Auck, whether there is one of him or many, and whether in fact Ogopogo has any existence save in imagination and legend, are questions for the feature writer rather than the scientist.

A very enjoyable concert was held by the students of Sacred Heart College, Kowloon, last evening to mark the 11th anniversary of the school. Some 1,000 guests were entertained to a programme of Chinese music ably rendered by the boys and an enjoyable time was had by all present.

ECHOES OF 1858

72.—Bishop Tells of Local "Gunpowder Plot"

(In our issue on Saturday we gave the first portion of a letter written by the Bishop of Victoria to a friend at Home. Below is the continuation of the letter.)

An atrocious gunpowder plot to blow up the English community while assembled for divine service in the Cathedral, is among the recent attempts planned at a distance and happily frustrated by the fidelity of a native Christian. As the last mail-steamers was leaving the Harbour, the Rev. W. Chalmers of the London Missionary Society, called upon the Governor and myself to communicate the details of the plot just divulged to one of his native preachers by our Chinese sexton, the native Christian to whom I first alluded. This man obtained permission from me to go to his native home to escape punishment from the mandarins. He belonged to a place called Shumtak. On his arrival there he was ordered by the local gentry and scholars to another place to await orders. He had implicitly to obey. At the second locality he was told to return and avail himself of the opportunities as sexton to lay a train and destroy the English community in the Cathedral. He objected that he had not the requisite courage. He was then ordered to return to Hong Kong, and there await the arrival of four braves, whom he was to admit during the night into the church and to conceal them in the masking of the plot. The plan was to have laid three or four piculs (a picul is about a hundredweight avoirdupois) of gunpowder under the hollow wooden platform extending over the area on which the sittings are raised, and then to light a slow match or fuse so as to time the explosion according to the hour of assembling for service. The Chinese are so expert in slow matches that they commonly use an expendent of this kind for dividing the several hours and watches in their military guard houses according to the lengths of the parts consumed.

The Governor placed Mr. Chalmers in communication with Mr. Caldwell, the Government protector of the Chinese, who after long investigation, being perfectly acquainted with Chinese, reported the truthfulness of the informant and the necessity for taking remedial measures.

It was deemed advisable to let the English community become acquainted with what might have caused a needless panic and unwillingness to come to the church. The Governor, the general, the head of police and myself took consultation.

The Chinese sexton could be induced by no offers of pecuniary reward to remain at his post and to give up the braves who should arrive to carry out the plan. He is now in concealment in a small village in another part of the island. His place was filled by another during his absence, and thus, having given timely notices of the plot, he hopes also to secure his own exemption from persecution. Scarcely an Englishman is aware of the danger on the brink of which we were unconsciously reposing in security. And all that an initiated person can discover of changes in the cathedral as a preventive measure is that a part of the garrison now come with their side arms to the cathedral in the morning, whereas formerly they all came in the afternoon; and two, or three extra European policemen may be seen quietly exploring the localities of the edifice, and watching every suspicious-looking Chinese who come near the church.

Holland's Budget To Be Balanced

(TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS.")

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that the Reuter-telegram, dated: Amsterdam, August 31, published in your issue of the 1st of September, which you headed: "Attack on the Guild by Foreign Speculators, caused me to inquire from Her Majesty's Government whether the report to the effect that the next budget will probably show a deficit of between 500,000,000 and 700,000,000 guilders was correct.

Although no figures have been given in reply, I have been authorized to state that the balancing of the next year's budget will be assured, when the measures which the Government will present to Parliament together with the budget, are approved and passed. It is hardly necessary for me to repeat that Her Majesty's Government does not contemplate leaving the gold standard. Dr. Cuijin, the premier, emphatically stated at the Economic Conference in London that the Netherlands are adhering to that standard. This has been officially confirmed on more than one occasion.

I trust that the above will remove the wrong and rather alarming impression about the financial situation of my Country, conveyed by the Reuter Telegram.

I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,
M. J. QUIST.

AQUATIC SPORTS OR LAND SPORTS?

Amusing Debate At The Wah Yan College.

An interesting debate was held in the College Hall of Wah Yan College on Saturday on the theme: "That Aquatic Sports are more beneficial and enjoyable than Land Sports."

The youthful speakers presented the arguments for and against water sports very thoroughly, and many showed marked facility in taking up and answering on the spot opposing arguments. Some points from the speeches were: "We like sports in summer, not in winter, when the cold north wind forces us to hurry ourselves in our overcoats, and parents and children like to sit together and chat around the fire. Now, the only sports for summer are aquatic sports. Nobody ever tires of aquatic sports; one can stay swimming for hours. In swimming the movements are even and gentle; in land sports they are rough and irregular."

"Swimming is, frankly, a most tiresome sport; the only thing one can do is swim, swim, swim! The more one dives the more one hurts oneself!" "There is simply no comparison between land and water sports for manliness, for clean pleasure, and for character training. Lying about lazily in the sunshine is a soft and effeminate form of pleasure; but football hardens the muscles, steels the character, teaches self-control and team-spirit."

Of course, the dangers of the sea—sharks, jelly-fish, polluted water, etc.—were pointed out; but the defenders of the water-sports insisted that land games were at least, if not more dangerous. There was a delightful passage of arms, when one "Government" speaker made the point that even legless men, like the famous swimmer, Zimny, could take part in and enjoy sea sports; but he got his answer: "The honourable member for the Government has pointed out the great advantage of swimming for legless persons, such as Zimny. But let me assure him that most of us are not legless!" And there was one delicious argument for the aquatic sports: "Ice skating, the best of all winter games, is, after all, a form of aquatic sport in winter!"

The best speeches were those of Messrs. Ho Ka Ki, Hung Leung Chiu (a maiden speech), and Labb. On the division, the aquatic sports won by a single vote.

PREACHED BEFORE THE KING

Scots Divine's Frank Sermon

(Special Air-Mail Service)

Ballater, Aug. 30. The King, with Prince George, drove from Balmoral Castle to Crathie parish church for Divine service this morning. The Duke and Duchess of York, with Princess Elizabeth, motored from Birkhall.

Dr. John Sturton, Domestic Chaplain to the King and minister of the parish, took the service. In his sermon he made a vigorous attack on internationalism and on the Oxford Group Movement.

"Referring to internationalism, he said: 'What a dull, uninteresting world it will be if we give up our national characteristics! To see the people turned out, as it was said the old School Board system turned out its scholars, like so many chesses all precisely of the same pattern.' But the internationalist can see no daylight in those who oppose him."

It was the same in the Church, added Dr. Sturton. Members of what is at present called the Oxford Group maintain they have alone found the keystone of religion. We had all been grasping shadows, they maintain, and been rendering unto Caesar the things that were God's.

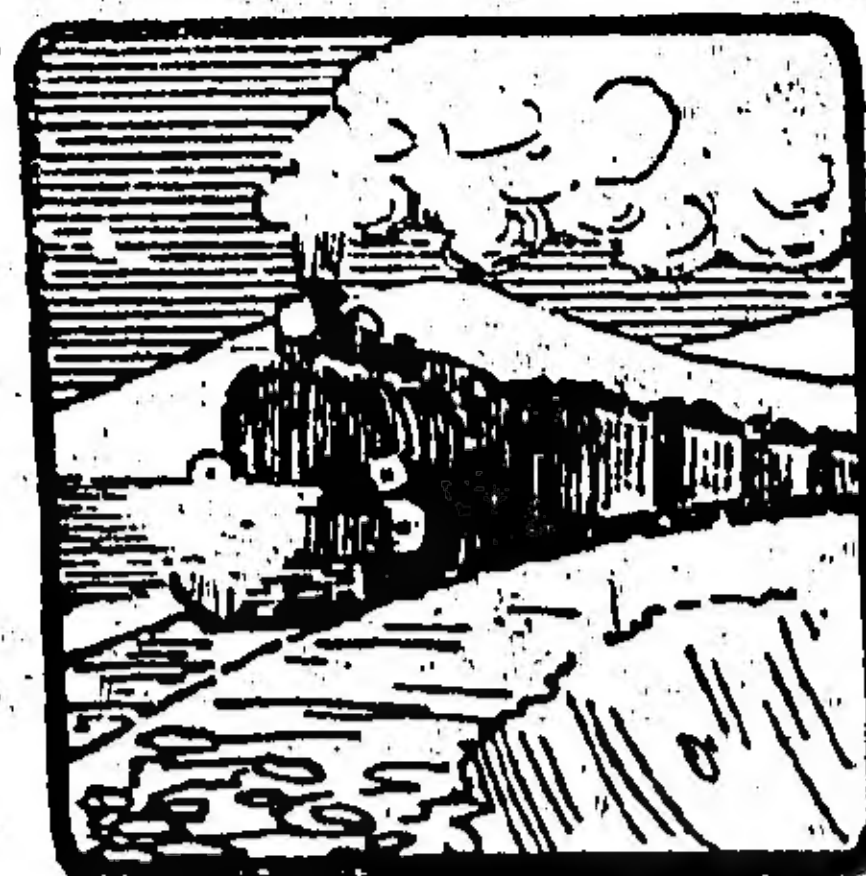

"Rendering unto Caesar" "To my mind," said the preacher, "their theories are just the old ones—Egyptian magicians and soothsayers dressed and tricked out in modern habiliments—and I am certain will speedily vanish like the snowflake on the river. 'British hard-headedness and British common-sense will have none of them. The authors of such doctrines are neither rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's nor unto God the things that are God's."

"Some there are who would take political life and separate it from God, or at least who look upon it as a legitimate field for all manner of unworthy practices and stratagems and tactics. It ought not to be so."

The Rev. John Sturton, D.D., who is 62 years of age, was appointed parish minister of Crathie in 1919. Before that time he had been for 15 years minister of Galmis.

FROST WINS TWICE AT MACAO

Norman Dietz Steers Carnation II. To Victory

DAY OF GOOD DIVIDENDS BUT NO SURPRISES

(By "MORNING DEW")

The Macao races yesterday were held in glorious weather and the bright sunshine at the course made the heat somewhat oppressive during the afternoon, but in spite of that there was some very keen racing.

Messrs. Frost and Dietz, both took part in the day's racing, the former winning two races and the later one.

The Machine Gun Troop races were quite interesting, the dividends being very gratifying.

Miss Scott Harston won the Ladies race where there were only three starters.

The prizes at the conclusion of the sports were given away by Madame Miranda, wife of H.E. the Governor of Macao.

AFRICAN EVE ROMPS HOME

African Eve was by far the best thing for the first race, as he looked a picture in the paddock and as he was taken out by Mr. Charles, who certainly is the best jockey among the Machine Gun troops. The pony led from start to finish. Red Leaves finished second, coming up beautifully in the home straight. Jan Stewer and Mouché were prominent most of the way and in a close duel for third-place, Mouché just won!

The Ma Kau Siao Plate. Prestwick (with Dietz up) was a hot favourite for the second race, but after running neck and neck over the major part of the race with Blue Plane (Frost up) the pony went under in the home straight by 2½ lengths. Jingo was third and the rest of the field well strung out.

The Novices Race. After an absence of many months from local racing "Jackie" Noronha, requiring one more win to get out of the novice class, started in the Prais-Grande Handicap over six furlongs on Golly Eyes. He was unable to get the necessary win. Snappy Eve led from start to finish and won by many lengths. Bold General was prominent most of the way and finished a good second. Much Ado was third and The Raincoat and Snappy Eve brought up the rear in that order.

M.G.T. Scurry. In the scurry over half a mile for "B" Class M.G.T. ponies, White Label ran strongly in the finish to win the race from In-shallah, ridden by A. H. Potts, who sent his mount into the lead early on. The Goods ran quite well all the way and was a good third, being only a short head behind In-shallah at the finish.

Mong Ha Handicap. There were five starters in this race over once round for "D" Class ponies, and Adam (Frost up) was made a red-hot favourite. He took the lead from the start and was held all the way on the rails with the rest of the field of five alongside him. He won easily from Powerful King and Ajax. Cebu, ridden by Dietz, was second favourite, but disappointed.

The Arela Preta Handicap. Bold Lad started a warm favourite for the six furlongs race for Macao sibs, but had to be satisfied with second place, as Norman Dietz steered Carnation II. in to win by a length and a half. Mr. Chanson on Bold Lad lost many lengths when the pony taking the bend behind Carnation, swerved widely. By the time he was righted the leader was not more than fifty yards from home and still a couple of lengths to the good, which proved too big a task for Chanson's mount. Jackie (Laing up) was third.

The Ladies Race. The ladies' race only drew three starters—City of Shanghai (Miss Scott Harston), Brown Willy (Miss Beryn Fair) and Bagulo (Miss J. Dowling). City of Shanghai led from start to finish and won much as he liked from Bagulo.

Race 1. Mr. Charles' African Eve (Mr. R. H. Charles) 1. Mr. Macnamara's Red Leaves (Mr. Potts) 2. Mr. Potts' Mouché (Mr. Potts) 3. Won by many lengths; six lengths between second and third. Time: 2 mins. 8.3 secs. Pari-mutuel:— Winner: $15.80. Place: $11.70; $8.50; $10.20.

Also ran:—Britannic Hall (Mr. Bond); Country Club (Mr. Cochrane); Demurrer (Mr. Mossop); Jan Stewer (Mr. Field); King's Counsel (Mr. Robertson); Pat (Mr. Browning); Peter Davey (Mr.

Morgan; Social Mark (Mr. Wade); White Stars (Mr. Ferguson).

Race 2. Mr. K. W. Fung's Blue Plane (Mr. L. Frost) 1. Mr. Vick Chim's Prestwick (Mr. N. Dietz) 2. Mr. Neptuno's Jingo (Mr. G. Harriman) 3. Won by 2½ lengths; three lengths between second and third. Time: 1 min. 24.4 secs. Pari-mutuel:— Winner: $20.80. Place: $5.50; $5.20; $5.40.

Also ran:—Whitehall (Mr. Yeh); Dashaway (Mr. K. W. Fung); Genghis Khan (Mr. P. P. Botelho).

Race 3. Mr. Sky's Snappy Eve (Mr. Ferguson) 1. Mr. Wong Ping Shun's Bold General (Mr. P. P. Botelho) 2. Mr. Yew Man Kit's Much Ado (Mr. Yue Shun Wa) 3. Won by five lengths; three lengths between second and third. Time: 1 min. 37.2 secs. Pari-mutuel:— Winner: $9. Place: $8.70; $7.50.

THE SAM CHUN MONTE-CARLO

Nearly Burnt Out?

According to the Chinese papers the Matched-Monte Carlo just across the border at Sam Chun had a narrow escape from complete destruction during the weekend.

"Play was in full swing. Everyone was intent on the gamble, Chinese, English and all the cosmopolitan crowd that throngs the resort.

Suddenly an observant attendant saw that the roof was alight. "Fire engines were summoned," say our Chinese contemporaries, and the blaze was very soon under control.

Apparently the promoters of this delectable resort have taken the precaution of providing against fire. What forethought! And their wisdom has been justified. In a few minutes play was once more in full swing, coins clattering mainly from owner to owner. But for the foresight of the promoters only charred ashes might have greeted seekers of fortune on Sunday morning. A tragedy worse than Ella's phantasy of roast pork has been averted!

THE CHINA EMPORIUM

GOOD SEND-OFF FOR NEW DEPARTMENT STORE

Just before noon on Saturday, Queen's Road Central reminded one of the good old days when the Chinese Fair was held in that quarter of the city, for it was packed with hundreds of "sightseers." The occasion was the official opening of the China Emporium, the latest addition to the Colony's up-to-date department stores.

The ceremony was performed by Sir Shou-son Chow, Chairman of the Board of Directors, and within a few minutes thousands of people, foreign and Chinese, poured into the building, anxious to see what the interior of the premises and the stock were like.

Guests present to wish the Emporium success included Sir Henry Pollock, the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, Mr. T. E. Pearce, Mr. A. Kern, Mr. C. Little and many prominent business men.

After Sir Shou-son Chow had declared the building open, Mr. W. G. Felshaw, on behalf of Messrs. Little, Adams and Wood, architects of the building, presented him with a silver cigarette case, suitably inscribed, in honour of the occasion.

Sir Shou-son Chow, said:—As you all know, there are already several other departmental stores in different parts of the Colony, but the locality we have chosen is, we think, one that serves a large section of the community and is particularly convenient to residents of the Middle Level and the Central part of the City.

It is not our intention to enter into competition with other departmental stores, as we feel that Hong Kong is, after all, not so small a place as not to admit of the establishment of another emporium such as ours. I, for one, feel that, in spite of the general depression, there is still ample scope in the Colony for the promotion of legitimate business enterprises.

It is true that Hong Kong, like the rest of the world, has not escaped the depression, but we have no reason to be pessimistic. World economic problems will find a solution sooner or later, and it is only a question of time when Hong Kong will regain its former prosperity.

"EVERYTHING NEW" We have seen many imposing buildings erected in the Colony in recent years. Ours is a combination of Chinese and Western architecture, designed and supervised by Messrs. Little, Adams & Wood to whom my fellow-Directors and I wish to tender thanks and congratulations on the successful completion of their difficult task.

We have this day launched a new enterprise—an entirely new business in a new building, stocked with new goods, run by a new staff. As everything is new to us, I fear that, at the beginning, we may not be able to come up to your expectations, and I therefore crave your indulgence, which I feel we shall have.

It only remains for me to assure the public of our best services in every respect, and our earnest endeavours to live up to our motto, which is "Efficiency and Courtesy."

SIR HENRY POLLOCK'S
ADVICE

Sir Henry Pollock replying on behalf of the guests, said:

POLICE OFFICER IN ACCIDENT

Motor Smash In Island Road

Sergeant Delahanty of the Hong Kong Police Force, was involved in a motor accident along Island Road yesterday when the motor cycle, he was riding came into collision with motor car No. 3505 (Ford Coupe) driven by Mr. Kroeger.

Miss Moorain was riding pillion to Sergeant Delahanty at the time of the accident but she was fortunately, not seriously injured and was allowed to leave the hospital after her injuries had been attended to. The police officer, however, was less fortunate and when he was examined by the doctor at the Government Civil Hospital, it was found that he had sustained a broken leg, and he was accordingly detained in hospital.

Details of the accident were rather meagre but we were, informed at Police Headquarters that shortly after noon yesterday, Sergeant Delahanty was on his way to Repulse Bay, with Miss Moorain riding pillion. When nearing the junction of Island Road and Repulse Bay Road, they met Mr. Kroeger who was returning from the "Bay" and it was at this spot that the accident occurred.

W. Langford, a forward, has been transferred from Leicester City to Queen's Park Rangers.

SNATCHING A HANDBAG

Chinese Gets Six Months' Imprisonment

Six months hard labour was imposed by Mr. Balfour, at the Central Magistracy on Saturday morning, on Lam Chui, an unemployed, who admitted snatching a handbag containing $30 and a fountain pen from a young Chinese lady, in Queen's Road Central at 2 p.m. on Friday afternoon.

It was stated by the police that complainant was walking in Queen's Road Central when defendant came up from behind and snatched the bag which was under her right arm. A district constable saw the incident, gave chase and arrested defendant in the next street. Mr. Balfour complimented the constable.

IN PRAISE OF GOOD PORT.

No gentleman's cellar Oporto should lack, For it comforts the brain and it strengthens the back. The lungs it assists, and affords beyond question The very best means of promoting digestion.

To the car it gives tune, to the eyesight fresh vigour, And the scarecrow expands to a corpulent figure. No medicine, in case of a languid sensation, Can so pleasantly quicken a slow circulation.

It drives the blue devils and sorrows away, And makes a man witty, light hearted and gay: Imparting new fibre and power to the whole, New force to the body, new strength to the soul. And thus it becomes to a weak constitution The Elixir of Life in a state of solution.

SOUND FINANCE

President Roosevelt is anxious about the economic situation in America. He wrecked the World Economic Conference because he feared damage to his own country; he has acted with decision that has inspired confidence and admiration, and yet recovery limps. He has not been able to do as well as the National Government of Great Britain and the dominant factor in the world to-day is Britain's unshaken stability. People are apt to take this for granted and we make no apology for a brief recapitulation of the stages by which these results were achieved. As far as Great Britain was concerned, the vital hour in the financial crisis struck on the 21st September, 1931, when she was compelled to abandon the gold standard. This followed upon a series of post-war ups and downs in the financial world which threatened the economic fabric not only of Great Britain but of the whole world. Then came the bankers' warning that a considerable part of the British gold reserves had been lost, national expenditure had exceeded safe limits, and bankruptcy was threatened. Under the National Government economy became the order of the day, the Budget was balanced, and sound finance was re-introduced. The 1932 Budget was based on equally sound—if, from the point of view of the tax-payer, drastic—principles; tariffs were introduced and, through the depreciation of the pound, lost markets were recaptured. Immediately it became obvious that the pessimistic view held in many foreign countries as to Great Britain's economic future were unjustified.

With a depreciated pound the next problem was to secure a stable rate of currency exchange with foreign countries, especially with the great gold-holding countries, France and the United States of America. It was not desirable that there should be any unduly great purchases of sterling, which would have increased the value of the pound in terms of foreign money, thus re-imposing a handicap on the British exporter; just as it had been undesirable that the value of the pound should sink too low. To prevent violent fluctuations the Exchange Equalisation Fund—first at $150,000,000 and later at $350,000,000—was created. Thus it was possible for the State, through the Bank of England, to buy or sell foreign money according to the needs of the day. American dollars were bought largely when the United States banking crisis occurred, but they were promptly changed into gold and the Bank of England's depleted reserve restored. Another valuable support for sterling was the sudden sale of much of the large stock of hoarded gold in India. During 1932 nearly $100,000,000 of this gold was sold abroad, to the great benefit of insurance companies, shipping companies, and bullion brokers. Its eventual sale to the United States of America and European countries also helped to provide Great Britain with welcome supplies of foreign money.

There were two other great operations which enormously strengthened the British position, both at home and abroad. The first was the quick discharge of the debts due to France and the United States of America—incurred when these two countries granted credits to support sterling before the gold standard was abandoned by Great Britain—of a total of about $130,000,000. This had an enormously steady effect abroad. The next was the conversion of the $2,000,000 five per cent. War Loan to a 3½ per cent. basis. This colossal undertaking was successfully carried out without hitch, again demonstrating the public's patriotic determination to establish a secure basis for the country's finances, and saving the Exchequer an annual outlay of about $80,000,000.

Meanwhile the bankers have not escape periods of anxiety. With a state of depression in industry there were considerably fewer demands for money advances from manufacturers and trade. Money accumulated in

Capt. Pennington Killed

London, Sept. 16. Captain Pennington, an airman with a distinguished war record, received fatal injuries when his aeroplane De Havilland "Dragon" crashed near Doncaster last evening. The aeroplane was taking off when it crashed into a hedge, the under part of the machine being torn away and the machine wrecked. There were six passengers in the machine but they either escaped or were only slightly injured. All had been attending the Doncaster Race meeting and the passengers included Mr. Gordon Richards, champion jockey, who yesterday won five out of six races in which he rode. Richards has ridden 151 winners this season. As the flat racing season closes in November he still has a chance of breaking the record of Fred Archer, who in the 1885 season rode 248 winners.

Flying Tragedy At Brooklands

London, Sept. 16. LADY Clayton, who was an accomplished amateur pilot, has died from injuries received at Brooklands, Aerodrome. She had started her engine and was climbing into the cockpit when the aeroplane moved forward. It was rapidly gathering speed when she fell. Lady Clayton was carried unconscious to the hospital, where she died.

The machine turned turtle. She was 25 years old and was the widow of Sir Robert Clayton, who died last year from an illness contracted during an air raid motor journey across the Libyan Desert.—British Wireless Service.

Motor Driver Killed

Brookland, Sept. 17. The five hundred miles race was marred by a tragedy at the close where an R.A.F. bomber crashed this morning towards the end of the race.

An M. G. Midget turned a somersault and began blazing furiously, the driver, Watson, being thrown out and sent to hospital where he died later. The car was completely burnt out and competitors had to brake violently to avoid the blazing wreck.

The race was won by E. R. Hall in an M. G. Midget, the time being 4 hours 36 minutes 23 secs.; an average speed of 100.53 m.p.h.—Reuter.

the banks because the profitable outlet was not wide enough. Both deposits and cash increased, and for a time, in spite of the cheapness of money, advances to industry of necessity declined. Yet bank profits have declined very slightly; British finance and banking have weathered the recent storms in a wonderful manner. The position of all the banks is as sound as ever, and with the present revival in trade we may soon expect an expansion of banking activity, with a wider distribution of funds and a gradual increase in the purchasing power of the people. This in its turn will lead to more orders being placed and the prosperous side of the trade cycle should soon again be in evidence.

"OH, HE WRITES ENGLISH!"

A Literary Beggar In Canton

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Sept. 17. A literary beggar, able to write English and Chinese beautifully, appeared this morning on the pavement at Kwong Wai Road and drew the attention of passers-by. His writings appeared in chalk and described his plight in both languages. Beggars who can display their beautiful penmanship in Chinese are often seen in the streets, but it is a rare sight to see a mendicant scribbling the English language on the sidewalk with all the speed and facility of a schoolmaster writing his lesson on the blackboard. The impoverished scribe is a good looking young man. His "memoirs" on the pavement stated that he is a native of Fukien and received his middle school education in Canton. He taught school in the interior but suddenly became insane. Without work or relatives here, he is in great distress. Although his insanity is now gone, he simply wants to beg enough to enable him to return to Amoy. "Oh, he writes English," shouted small boys and coolies who admired the penmanship without understanding what it is all about.

WHERE CHINESE TEA FAILS

Chance To Recapture Markets

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Sept. 17. If Chinese tea is not dyed with all sorts of colour and is prepared under hygienic conditions, this staple industry stands a fair chance to recapture world markets. This is the advice received by local tea merchants from the Ministry of Industries in Nanking. Last year exports of Chinese tea amounted only to about ten thousand piculs in spite of the fact that these leaves are grown in Fukien, Hupeh, Anhwei, Kiangsi and Hunan.

Declining exports of tea are due to several reasons, according to the Ministry of Industries. Production of tea in Ceylon and India competes with Chinese exports, while over-production of coffee in Brazil lowers its price and makes it more popular than tea. Japanese propaganda is also blamed for the diminishing market, as it is said that Japanese rivals circulated the statement that Chinese tea being dyed with all kinds of colour contains poison.

The slump is home markets is due to high tariff on Chinese tea imposed by the Manchukuo authorities in the North-east. The demand in Tientsin and Peking has also fallen off.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The Colony had a clean bill of health on Friday.

The M. V. "Silverew" from New York sailed from Shanghai 16th instant and is expected here on "19th instant" at daylight.

The police launch which was sunk in a collision in the harbour last week has now been salvaged and is in Kowloon Dock where repairs will be effected. It is not yet known what is the extent of the damage.

A seaplane slipway, 380 feet in length and 50 feet wide, is to be constructed at Kai Tak Aerodrome. Tenders are now invited both for the construction of the slipway and certain masonry and contingent works in connection with the airport.

Shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday, No. 6 Observatory Villars, Kowloon, collapsed, causing no little excitement in the neighbourhood. As the house was not occupied at the time, no one was injured though the neighbours had a bit of a shock.

The many friends of Mrs. R. H. Kotewall will be glad to learn that after five months' serious illness, she is now taking a turn towards recovery. Her medical adviser, however, states that it will be another three months before Mrs. Kotewall can resume her social activities. We take this opportunity of wishing her a speedy restoration to good health.

The "Gazette" contains an Ordinance to amend the Juvenile Offenders Ordinance, 1932, to ensure that persons dealt with under section 17 (1) of Ordinance No. 1 of 1932 are not sent to Reformatory Schools but, where necessary, to Certified Industrial Schools, in order to prevent the attachment of any unnecessary stigma to children or young persons.

NO BIG PARADE

Fear Of Communist Uprising

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Sept. 17. For fear of Communist uprising, the big parade by students to-morrow in commemoration of the September 18, 1931 incident is cancelled. The police and military authorities are apprehensive that the Reds will utilise the demonstration to stage a coup d'etat or a minor disturbance as they, too, are most bitter against the invaders and ardent critics of the policy of non-resistance.

Instead, each school or college will be represented by five students at the memorial service to-morrow morning at the Chungshan Memorial Hall but after school.

The authorities have received word that the Reds will create trouble by denouncing paper resistance against Japanese invasion and by winning the support of the radical elements. It is suspected that several Communist youths have enrolled as students in order to stir the others for a "real struggle with the enemy."

Newspaper editors are warned not to publish to-morrow rash remarks about the Japanese royal family, when public feelings against Japan will surge high. A member of the Japanese Consular staff told a Chinese municipal official to-day that no one is allowed to make derogatory remarks about the Mikado or his family who is considered absolutely sacred. Such a warning in advance is intended for newspaper men and speech makers.

Mr. W. C. Smith, of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company, Penang, who has retired from the firm's service after a long connection, in the course of which he has served in India, Colombo, Singapore, and Penang, has come to Singapore on a brief holiday prior to leaving for England to settle down with his family who are already in residence there.

"INTERFERENCE IN POLITICS"

Papal Nuncio May Be Recalled

Prague, Sept. 17. The Cabinet has decided to request the Pope to recall the Papal Nuncio, Pietro Ciriaci, to Rome to enable an official explanation to be given to the latter Ciriaci wrote to the leader of the Slovak Poplar Party complaining he had been insulted at Prague. The non-Catholic press thereupon accused Ciriaci of interfering with internal affairs and attempting to incite Slovaks to separate from the rest of the community. The Cabinet censured the letter and decided to request his recall.—Reuter.

EMPLOYMENT IN AMERICA

750,000 More Obtain Work

Washington, Sept. 16. BRIGHT spots in the critical stage of America's Prosperity Drive are the August employment index, which is the highest for two years, and the pay roll figure, the highest since December, 1931.

These improvements are largely due to the drive for shorter hours. A total of 750,000 of the unemployed were re-absorbed in August.

Stressing the importance of these figures, Miss Frances Perkins, United States Secretary of Labour, warns the country against complacency, as employment is still 28 per cent. under the normal average of 1929. Pay rolls are even lower.

The coal position has brightened as a result of General Hugh Johnson's declaration that the Coal Code will unquestionably be ready for President Roosevelt, by to-night.

It is stated that President Roosevelt is adhering to the language of the Recovery Act in allowing collective bargaining, and is permitting no advance interpretations of the Labour clauses until and unless specific cases arise.

He regards the Act as specifying "neither an open nor a closed shop" but as permitting Labour to bargain with employers collectively.—Reuter.

CRISIS EXPECTED IN CUBA

All Business At A Standstill

SERIOUS THREAT OF GENERAL STRIKE

Havana, September 17.

Business in Cuba has practically stopped as, owing to uncertainty, Americans are refusing to participate in any transaction unless they have a cash advance. Meanwhile, tension is increasing owing to threats of a general strike aiming at the overthrow of the Government.

Five hundred Céspedesian officers are still holding out at the Hotel Nacional, but their supplies have been cut off and they have been sent an ultimatum that they must surrender by Monday, when three hundred have been ordered to return to their commands, while others will be expelled from the island.

After a talk between Mr. Welles with the Committee of the Student Directorate, a member of the Committee stated that Mr. Welles had declared the United States will not intervene, though Marines might be landed if the lives or property of Americans were endangered.

Washington, September 27.

Government circles believe a crisis may be expected in Cuba within the next twenty-four hours, in which it may be decided whether the San Martín regime can hope to restore order.—Reuter.

STRONGER GUARD FOR OFFICERS IN NATIONAL HOTEL

Washington, Sept. 17.

The aggravation of the Cuban disorders is enhanced by the possibility of the landing of United States troops, as the lives, and property of Americans are increasingly jeopardised.

It is reported that infuriated mobs have attacked an American ice factory and a Spanish shoe factory at Manzanillo.

An abortive rising in the province of Pinar del Rio, although stamped out by the Government has increased the general apprehension.

A stronger guard, reinforced by machine guns has been posted over the 500 officers loyal to ex-President Carlos Céspedes Ortiz who are still imprisoned in the Hotel Nacional.

Meanwhile, President Grau San Martín has rejected the proposal of the leaders of the political factions that he should resign in favour of Dr. Céspedes.—Reuter.

SITUATION IN CHAHAR

Fear Of Further Fighting

Peking, Sept. 15.

General Sung Chieh-yuan is hurrying back from Tientsin to-night to confer with General Ho Ying-ching concerning the situation in Chahar, created by the Japanese threat of drastic action if the Chinese troops do not withdraw from Kuyuan.

Chinese circles are of the opinion that the Japanese warning was prompted by a fear that the division of General Sung's troops under the command of General Chao Teng-yu, which recently occupied Kuyuan, may continue their advance on Dolonor, which city is at present held by Manchukuo troops. It is reported that the local military authorities have already wired to General Chao, ordering him to halt his advance.—Reuter.

A BLOW TO COMMUNISTS

Nanking, Sept. 16.

Among the fifty Communists arrested at Chengtu were Lin Wan Hsuan, Tsen Shao-chow, who returned to China in 1931 to direct Communist activities after many years spent in Soviet Russia, and Lo Chang-an, a member of the "Szechuan Provincial Soviet."

Information received in Nanking states that the Red organization in Szechuan has suffered a heavy blow through the arrests. It is stated that forty Communists of lesser importance have renounced their faith and have volunteered to assist in the anti-Red campaign.

It is also said that a rapprochement has been effected between Liu Hsiang and Liu Wen-hui, following the latter's offer to join the forces operating against the Communists.—Reuter.

In his first public reference to the United Ireland Party, Mr. De Valera described the "National Guard as the Military Wing of the New Party," but as the government did not permit any military movement to develop under cover of Party politics, Mr. De Valera did not spare his own supporters and condemned the anti-Bass raids and similar "shameful incidents." He warned the authors that they were encouraging the British and discouraging every sane and patriotic Irishman.—Reuter.

THE boycott of British beer is completely overshadowing the political situation.

NAZIS THROW SMOKE BOMBS

Serious Incident At Graz

Ten persons, including women, were burned of which eight were sent to hospital while ten Nazis were almost lynched by the infuriated crowd before the police rescued and arrested them. Over a hundred arrests were made.

Attention was drawn by Nazis when they raised their hands in the Hitler salute during the Austrian National Anthem (the same tune as Deutschland Uber Alles) to which the Nazis sang the words of the latter, then came the crackling of smoke bombs from all sides. The crowd panicked until mounted police charged and scattered the Nazis.

Graz is the capital of Styria, the chief Nazi Centre in Austria.—Reuter.

GERMANY AND DISARMAMENT

A Few Hints Given To France

Berlin, Sept. 15.

IF it was thought, by the argument that Germany merely wanted a period of rest before resorting to a policy of violence, that the domination of the victors over the vanquished could be perpetuated, it must decisively be declared that Germany would refuse to put up with such a situation any further.

This unequivocal statement upon Germany's attitude to disarmament was made to-day by the Foreign Minister, Baron von Neurath, in a speech at a reception given to foreign journalists. The only alternative to equality of armaments, declared Baron von Neurath, was the collapse of the whole idea of disarmament, with tragic consequences for which Germany would not be responsible. "Fully armed nations," he went on, "have no right to talk to a defenceless Germany like a schoolmaster. They will not be listened to in Germany."

One-Sided Defencelessness.

Referring to the allegation that Germany desired to re-arm, Baron von Neurath declared that the accusation was a deliberate effort to hide the fact that her aim was merely the removal of her present position of one-sided defencelessness.

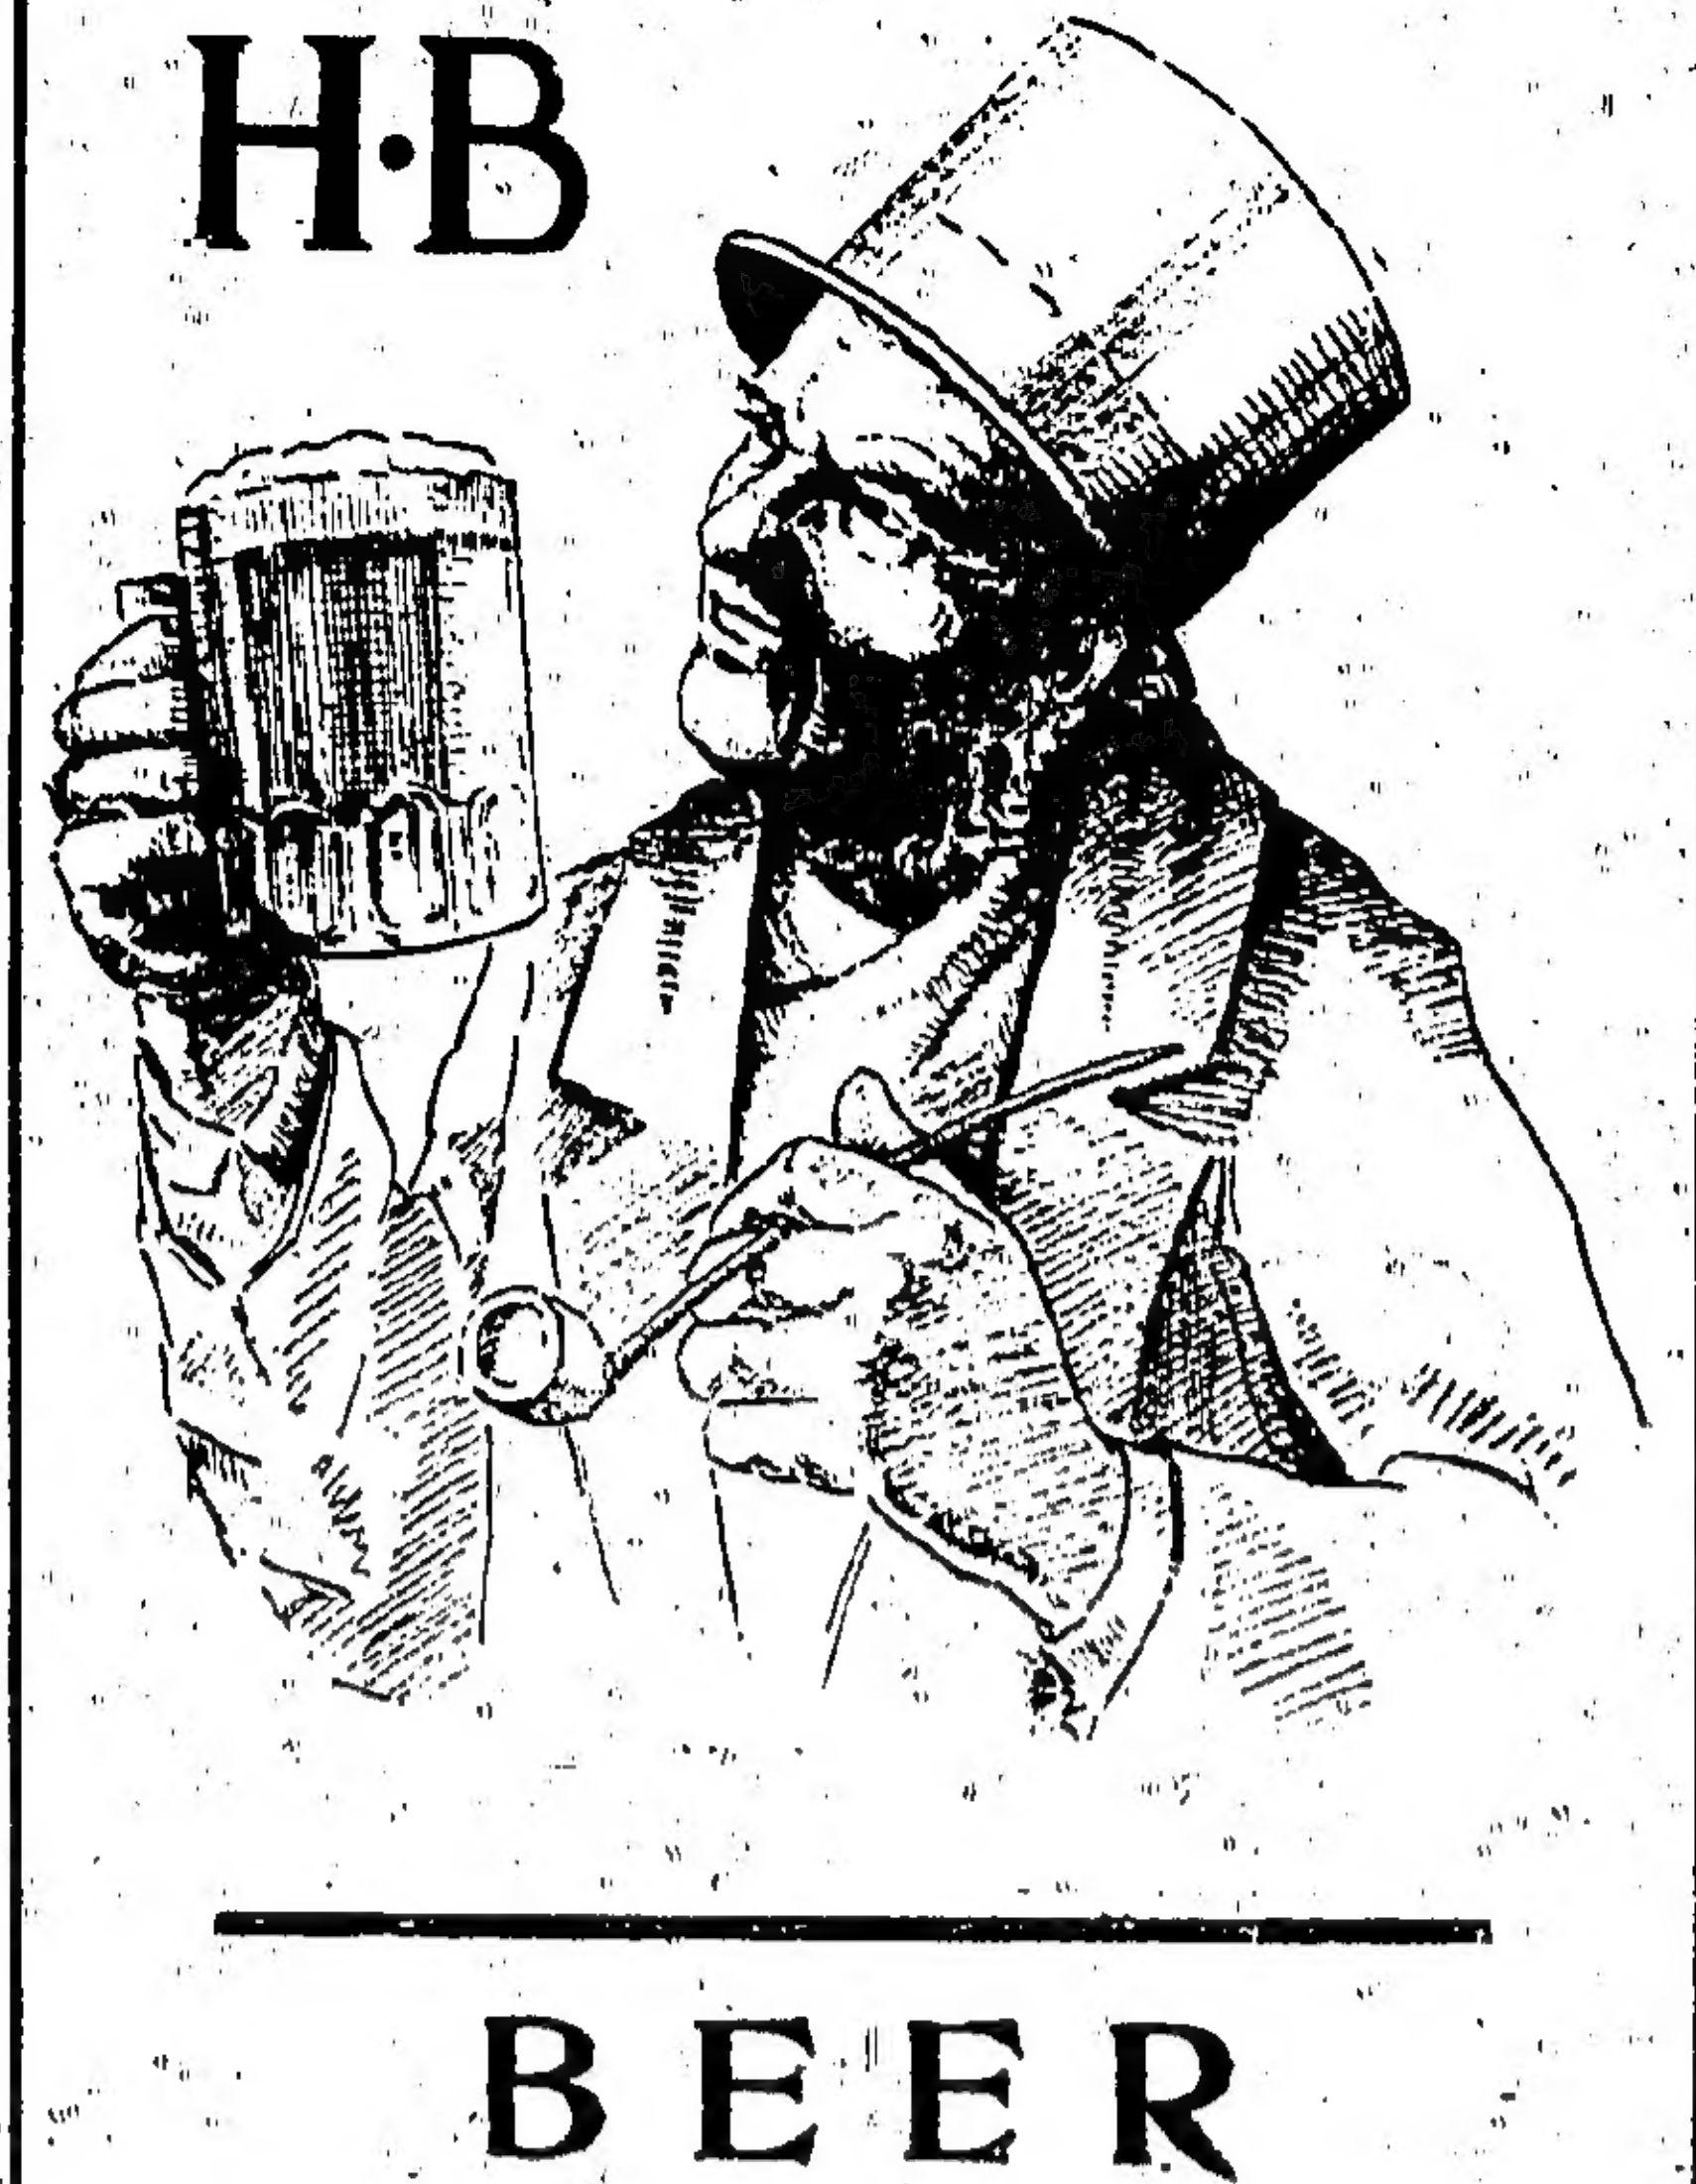

The suggestion that the disarmed nations should be subjected to preliminary control, prior to the international control of armaments applied to all States, was quite unworkable and quite unacceptable to Germany.

Turning to the situation in Austria, Baron von Neurath declared that Germany had no intention of interfering in the internal affairs of Austria, or of violating existing agreement.

At the same time, however, Germany must demand that other nations refrain from interference in the Austro-German conflict.

It needs hardly be pointed out that the disarmament statement by Baron von Neurath is very significant in view of the forthcoming Anglo-French disarmament talks which open in Paris on Monday.—Reuter.

over Leipzig from September 17 until Nov. 7, "in order to prevent any disturbance during the trial of the Reichstag incendiaries."—Reuter.

BENEFITS OF BEER

Ye savants who assiduously follow

The complicated science known as "stinks"

You fairly seem—forgive the phrase—to wallow

In analytical notes about our drinks.

And now I learn that when I quaff a bumper

Of even quite the mildest bitter beer

It tends to make my skinny figure plumper,

A thing I need not fear.

A simple truth! How strange that you should strike it!

I, knowing it before, remain unmoved,

Besides, I drink my beer because I like it

And not because my figure is improved.

I do not crave an outline gently rounded,

Nor seek what you might think a normal waist;

My liking for the pleasant stuff is founded

On pure and simple taste.

TOUCHSTONE.

NO RESTRICTION ON RUBBER IMPORTS

Amsterdam, Sept. 16.

It is now confirmed that the Ciskei Export Decree, introduced by the Netherlands East Indies

Peoples' Council, does not refer to the possibility of the introduction of a restriction on rubber exports. The Ordinance empowers the Government to restrict exports of various products to enable them to safeguard domestic consumption.—Reuter.

HOME FOOTBALL RESULTS

TOTTENHAM HOTSPURS HOLDS TO A DRAW

Sunderland Score Five Times Against Sheffield

The Arsenal's stock is falling, it would appear, from all news received about their activities in the First Division of the English League. Last week they went down surprisingly to West Bromwich and on Saturday, they only managed a draw against Tottenham Hotspurs—not a very impressive showing for the holders of the championship.

Chelsea did well to take the points from Aston Villa by the only goal scored in the match, but West Brom, after their victory over the Arsenal earlier in the week disappointed their supporters by sharing the points with Newcastle.

Two matches in the Scottish league were not played and the results of the games, as cabled by Reuter, together with the league table brought up-to-date, were:

HETMAN'S EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE

Strongly Favoured For "A" Class

The feature of the gallops on Saturday at Happy Valley was the excellent performance of Mr. Pearce's Hetman, ridden by Mr. A. J. P. Heard. The pony was sent over a mile and covered his ground convincingly finishing very strong. Hetman will now be a strong challenger against Sadko in the "A" and "B" class race on Saturday.

The main interest in the gallops centered on the subscription griffin. The favourites for the Challenge Cup all ran well, particularly National Day. He seems to be coming up just in time to be ready for the main race on Saturday. Warrington, Golden Dragon and Gay Butterfly are all in fine fettle and galloped well.

Amoy, which readers will see carries top weight for the second race on the programme, pulled up lame, and is not likely to go to the post. Another pony reported lame was Jingle, but he was seen to gallop on Saturday.

Brechin appears to be running quite well now and may be worth watching and Tenorio also is on the top of his form.

Taxis, Buses, Play- grounds Dismissed

The usual monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Kowloon Residents' Association was held in St. Andrew's Church Hall last Thursday evening.

There were present at the meeting Mr. C. E. Terry (President), Mr. J. H. Shaw (Hon. Secretary), Messrs. F. C. Mow, Fung, F. H. Crapnell, H. F. Bunje, W. Goldenberg, C. M. Manera, C. M. Hall, R. Pestonji, D. W. Munton and T. B. Wilson.

Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. R. P. Phillips, E. Cock, Li Chor'Chi, B. W. Tape, H. F. Un and B. Wylie.

General matters of interest to residents on the Peninsula were brought to the notice of members of the Committee and action taken thereupon.

Taxis and Buses.
With reference to the desire on the part of residents to have small taxi cabs available for hire at Kowloon Point, it was pointed out that while the Taxi Company concerned was prepared to station a number of these taxis at this point, for some reason there was Police objection to this being done. It was decided to approach the Police and endeavour to ascertain the reasons for refusal.

No reply having been received from Government on the subject of offensive smells in certain areas in Kowloon, it was decided to carry forward the matter to the next monthly meeting.

A letter from the Kowloon Motor Bus Company was read. It was stated that every effort was being made to improve the bus services and the particular complaints made by the Association had been brought to the notice of the employees concerned, strict warnings having been given of dismissal should there be any recurrence of misbehaviour on their part.

It was also stated that new schedules to suit the requirements of passengers using the different routes had been prepared and submitted to the Police. The Bus Company had also agreed to the Association's suggestion to re-introduce second class fares on No. 5 Route.

It was decided to postpone further action in this matter in the hope that the promised special supervision and maintenance of existing schedules would provide a more satisfactory service.

Star Ferry Approach.
With reference to a repeated request to Government to widen the "bottle-neck" at the Star Ferry Approach, the Association had been informed that it did not consider the amount of traffic justified the expense of widening the roadway at this point. Surprise was expressed by members of the Committee at this statement and it was decided to obtain data in this connection with a view to again taking up the matter with Government.

Correspondence was also read from Government in respect of the covered way at the Star Ferry. Medical Services.

A special sub-committee was appointed to deal with complaints concerning the Kwong Wah Hospital and to enquire into the working of that institution. It was decided to write Government making enquiry (1) as to the prospect of reopening a Public Dispensary in the Tsim Sha Tsui district and (2) requesting that consideration be again given to the Association's request that a Typhoid Signal be erected opposite Kowloon City Police Station.

Playgrounds.
As the result of a sub-committee's report on the management of the Children's Playgrounds in Kowloon, it was also decided to approach Government and suggest that a Chinese uniformed Watchman be on duty at each playground and that the whole of the playgrounds be placed under the general supervision of the recently appointed European Supervisor of King's Park Recreation Grounds.

It was noted with satisfaction that overflow boards (pentstock gates) were now in use at the Kowloon Reservoir. In this connection it was recalled that last year when the Association advised the introduction of these overflow boards, it was informed that the use of such was not considered justifiable.

KOWLOON SOCIAL AND SPORTING SEASON

Many Activities Planned For Winter

With the approach of the cooler season, things are beginning to brighten up in Kowloon, and there is more for everybody to do.

In the summer months, swimming is about the only form of sport that is taken up by young and old. Of course, there is also a game of bowls for those who want it and tennis, too, has a fairly large following, while a comparatively small number of people continue to play golf. In the evenings even when the sun has gone down, it is so hot that nobody feels equal to doing anything except to sit in a quiet spot with a book, a cool drink and friend electric fan. All that, however, is gradually sliding to the background and as I have said, there are already signs of the usual winter activities.

I shall start on the games first. During the winter months all the playing fields are worked overtime as it were, with cricket, hockey, football and rugby going on evening in and evening out. So far as cricket is concerned, the number of people taking an active part in it, as compared with the other games, is very small.

Football is the game that commands the biggest following and on match days, thousands of soccer enthusiasts swarm the different grounds. The Chinese comprise to majority of the spectators and if you sit back and think that it was only a few years ago that they took to this game seriously, it is nothing short of marvelous how adept they have become, and how many keen supporters they attract.

One game that is fast becoming a serious rival to football, so far as playing popularity goes, is hockey. The reason, perhaps, lies in the fact that it has developed into a "social" game for in Kowloon alone, there are no less than four ladies' teams, namely, Kowloon Ladies Hockey Club, St. Andrew's, C.B.A. and Recreio. The Diocesan Girls' School also run a team but they do not take part in the league competitions.

So far as the social side is concerned, Kowloon is perhaps better off than Hong Kong. To begin with there are the delightful tea and dances organised by the Peninsula Hotel, and while on the subject of dances, I hear those run by the Kowloon Cricket Club and Club de Recreio are always much looked forward to affair.

Then we have the Mock Trials and concerts organised by that very active body—St. Andrew's Club.

In this particular, mention must be made of the hard work put in by Rev. W. Walton Rogers and Mrs. Rogers who are really the "parents" of the Club.

The concerts, whist drives, debates, ladies nights and a host of other things run by the European Y.M.C.A. play a very prominent part in the social life of Kowloon in fact, without them, life would be pretty dull for some people. Indications so far seem to be that this winter Kowloon will be "livelier" than ever, and if by being lively one can forget the trade depression and its attendant worries, let us hope that this winter will prove to be the liveliest one we ever had.

EARLY SEASON RUMOURS

Discoveries At Kow- loon Cricket Club

The Kowloon Cricket Club had its first trial match of the cricket season on Saturday and if the form shown is true, they would seem to have discovered two batsmen in F. A. Munn and D. H. Munroe.

The former is an enterprising bat, and his 31 was the result of an aggressive display.

Munroe, who two years ago was in the Tonbridge School 1st XI takes pains to get his eye in, but once set is also attractive to watch.

The highest score of the day was by E. F. ("Ernie") Fincher who made 61, an innings in which his hook shots were much in evidence.

ADMIRAL EVANS' REPORT

On Flogging Of European

London, Sept. 15. A FULL report on the Bechuana land flogging case has been received at the Dominions Office from Vice-Admiral Evans who, in the absence of Sir Herbert Stanley on leave, was the Acting High Commissioner.

Important points of constitutional authority are involved in the case and the report makes it clear that Tsekedi, Chief of the Bawangwato Tribe exceeded his powers in flogging the white man, Phincas Mackintosh, and that in claiming the right to do so he was attempting to put himself above the law.

As the result of the findings of the Commission of Enquiry, Mackintosh was on Wednesday banished from residence in any native territory on account of his deplorable relations with the natives.

Dealing with the case of Tsekedi, Admiral Evans yesterday announced his suspension from the chieftainship during His Majesty's pleasure.

The report states that the Chief admitted trying the case and giving the sentence.

Chief's Defence.

His defence was that, firstly, Mackintosh was a bad character and that his action was justified, and secondly, that he was immune from the section of the proclamation of 1891 which forbids a native court to deal with Europeans.

The report adds that the Chief's attitude, as disclosed by the enquiry, made it impossible to deal with him by a fine and a rebuke.

In official circles in London, the view is expressed that whatever Mackintosh's offence had been, Tsekedi's claims could not be allowed and the danger of the usurpation of the power of the administration had to be averted, otherwise the existing difficulties of administering the country would have been greatly increased.

U.S. AMATEUR GOLF

Dunlap Wins Title

Cincinnati, Sept. 17. In the final of the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship, Dunlap beat Marston by 6 and 5. Dunlap was 7 up at the eighteenth and 6 up at the twenty-seventh.

Dunlap gave one of the greatest exhibitions in the history of the championship when he went round in sixty-eight in the morning. Marston had a 77, and won the seventh and eighth holes. Dunlap made marvellous approaches and was never once from the fairways.

Marston played occasional good golf but was wild from the tees. His iron shots were inaccurate.

Bobbie Jones said that Dunlap's was one of the most brilliant rounds he had ever seen.

Dunlap had a sixteen foot putt at the 19th to make him 8 up. At the 22nd he was nine up. Marston went out in 36 and Dunlap in 38.

COMMUNISTS ON THE RUN

Retreat Into Kiangsi

Canton, Sept. 18.

General Tsal Ting Kai, commanding the 19th route army, left Foochow on September 14 for Yenping by sunboat and reached there the next morning. He will confer with his officers on the progress of the anti-Communist campaign and will then return to Foochow.

The Communist incursion was aimed at Yenping and Shuihow in order to get food and ammunition, but thanks to the stiff resistance of the 19th Route Army the Communists were forced to retire. Following their unsuccessful venture, the Communists are retreating their way to the old haunts in southern Kiangsi.

There is no likelihood that the Communists will attempt to join their comrades in Changting.

Lungyen in western Fukien is garrisoned by the 60th division, and the 49th division is scattered between Lungyen and Yungan. Military operations in western Fukien (Continued on previous column).

R.N. v. R. UNIT FOR HONG KONG

Preliminary Work In Progress

YACHT CLUB'S KEEN INTEREST

Mr. H. S. Rouse, Vice-Commodore of the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club, informed our representative yesterday that active preliminaries with regard to the formation of a local unit of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve are now in progress.

The matter is being gone into by Commodore Elliot, R.N., with Mr. A. L. Shields and Mr. H. S. Rouse, Commodore and Vice-Commodore of the Yacht Club, on behalf of members of the Club, who are keenly interested.

Besides drawing upon members of the Yacht Club it is hoped to recruit widely from merchant service officers who are not in the Royal Reserve, and any others who have had sea training. Every care will be taken, however, not to encroach in any way upon either the work of the Volunteers, or likely recruits to that force.

Thorough Training.

It is expected that naval shore training will be given on the lines developed by the R.N.V.R. at Home, and also instruction in mine sweeping and mine laying, submarine chasing and other ports defence work. Possibly later on officers and men will also be given short spells on petrol, with the Royal Navy.

It is hoped within about a fortnight to hold a meeting of the Yacht Club at which definite progress will be put forward. Probably the meeting will be open to the public, or at least to those who are wishing to join the Unit.

HOCKEY

Y.M.C.A. on Saturday beat 5-3 after leading 3-0 at halftime.

J. T. K. Gilchrist, who was making his debut for the "Y", scored three times, and W. J. Brown and A. Henry brought the total to five.

LAWN BOWLS

Craigengower Win Junior League

Craigengower cricket Club 2nd Division team defeated the Civil Service C.C. on Saturday, and thereby keep the championship which they won last year for the first time.

Playing at home they won on all three rinks.

During the past season, Craigengower only lost one Home match, that against Recreio, and three away matches, namely to Electric, Police, and Bowling Green. They beat the Civil Servants 25 shots on the latter's green in their opening game this season.

The Bowling Green conclude the season as runners-up with 22 points from 18 games, as against Craigengower's 24 points. The scores on Saturday were as follows:

BOMBERS FOR CANTON

Brought From America By President Polk

General Chan Chai Tong, chief Commander of the 1st Division Army ordered a number of new fighting planes from America during the last few months.

On Friday morning, six new bombers arrived in Hong Kong from America by the President Polk. These bombers are to be packed in crates and sent to Canton by the express train on Tuesday.

THE PIECE GOODS MARKET

Cotton and Fancy Goods.

The following reports have been received by the chamber of commerce.

Some small repeat orders on certain lines of Spring Fancies are reported to have been placed and enquiries have been received for other lines, but the volume of business is far below normal. Demand for Grey and White Shirtings remains very limited and clearances have been poor.

The latest Cotton prices to hand are those of the 15th inst:—

American	5.47d.
Egyptian Sakel	7.30d.
F.G.F. "Spot"	7.30d.

Woolens.

The market for the new season's Woolen Goods is just opening and dealers report that prices are very poor, due to "sacrificial" sales of bankrupt cargo by weak holders. Progress with stocks of Hosiery Yarn is very slow, only a small number of the local knitting factories being in operation.

LOCAL SOCCER

Club Beat Lincolns

In their second trial match of the season, on Saturday, the Hong Kong Football Club who lost to the Royal Artillery last week by two goals to three, beat the Lincolns by 3 goals to 1. The Lincolns juniors also lost to the Club juniors by three goals to two. This is the Club's second success, their first victory being over the Artillery last week when they won by two goals to one.

THE SENIOR GAME

Only ten men turned up for the Club when the game started. As a result of this handicap they were soon in arrears. Duncan made a mistake and the ball went out to L. Hocquard who closed in to beat Fowler with a fast ground shot. Soon after this early reverse Tavin, the late comer, appeared but the Lincolns went further ahead when Baldry scored from a nice centre by Hocquard.

However, the Club, spurred by this setback, began to settle down and Heath, the Lincolns goalkeeper, was called upon to make several splendid saves. After about twenty minutes play E. Strange reduced the deficit for the Club after a nice solo effort.

The Club continued to attack and Howe scored the equaliser.

Shortly afterwards, however, Baldry regained the lead for the Lincolns when he sent in a hard shot from a pass by Hocquard. Just before the interval the Club nearly equalised, Heath averting Howe's shot with his foot.

Shortly after the interval, E. Strange again equalised for the Club. The game then became a bit scrappy, and Fowler was called upon on several occasions to save good shots, throwing the ball out, but on one occasion, Cousins anticipated his movement and kicked the ball out of his hands into the net.

This lead, however, was again shortlived, the equalising goal coming a few minutes later. Heath in making a good save from Dominy, pushed the ball out to Howe from whom it rebounded into the net.

The game was difficult to follow in the closing stages owing to bad light, but interest was revived when E. Strange was fouled in the penalty area. Bickford, however, shot straight into Heath's hands.

Towards the end of the game, Bickford ran through to beat Heath with the glorious shot to be followed by the nice goal by Strange.

LONDON FINANCE NOTES

(Special Air-Mail Service)

RISING PRICE OF GOLD

London, August 30. The price of gold was fixed yesterday morning at 192s. 10d. per ounce, a rise of 4s. 10d. per ounce in the week. This was the result of the further fall in sterling as measured in the currencies of the Gold Standard countries, particularly French francs.

Gold before we went off the Gold Standard was valued at about 85s. an ounce. The highest recorded price since that time was in November last, when the price reached 130s. 8d. The progressive increase in the price in the past seven months may be seen in the value of the South African mines have received for their output since South Africa linked up with sterling. For the first three months of this year the price was 118s. for the second three months it was 120s. and for July 123s.

BRITISH RAILWAYS

Investors who have retained their faith in the future of British railways are steadily coming into their own. In the past month or two a great change has come over the position of the companies. This is illustrated by the traffic receipts issued this week, when, for the first time for years, all four groups on a normal week showed increased receipts over the same week in the previous year.

They are the only basis-investors have, and when taken in conjunction with the known economies made in working and the improvements in organisation, the all-round increase, though comparatively small, is evidence of a striking change in the situation.

HEAVY BUYING

Those investors who have acted upon our constantly reiterated recommendation of home railway securities as a lock-up investment have good reason to be satisfied. Others who are now realising the attractive possibilities have been buying heavily this week, with an almost dramatic effect on prices. In the following table we show the present price, the rise in the past month, and the lowest level touched this year:

Lowest This Year.	Present Price.
Great Western Ord.	31 1/2
5% Red Pref.	87 1/2
L. & N.E. 3%	100 1/2
Pref. Ord.	73 1/2
Def. Ord.	44 1/2
3% Debts	80 1/2
4% Debts	88 1/2
4 1/2% 1st Pref.	194 1/2
4 1/2% 2nd Pref.	127 1/2
L.M. & S. Ord.	124 1/2
4% Guar.	88 1/2
4% Pref.	33 1/2
4% Pref. 1929	17 1/2
Southern Pref. Ord.	28 1/2
Def. Ord.	18 1/2
5% Red Pref.	84 1/2
5% Red Pref.	80 1/2

There is still room for further improvement in some of the junior prior charge stocks, while the Ordinary stocks possess very attractive possibilities as lock-up investments for capital appreciation. The important fact, previously emphasised here, is that the railways can carry a much larger volume of traffic, both passengers and goods, with little increase in costs. In other words, the larger proportion of any increase in revenue should become available for dividends.

The directors have always been conservative in the matter of dividends, and the result of this policy is seen to-day in a very good balance-sheet position, with ample resources for the development of the business. The dividend rate for the past couple of years has been 10 per cent., which is paid free of income-tax. The company is busily employed at present, and it would be a surprise if the next report, due in December, announced an increased dividend.

CANADIAN STEAMSHIP

First To Cross Atlantic Ocean

Halifax, Canada.—One hundred years ago, in August of 1833, the gallant little Canadian steamship "Royal William" made the first passage of the Atlantic under steam. The centenary of this historic voyage has aroused the interest and pride of this country.

The "Royal William" was a wooden paddle-steamer, built at Quebec and towed to Montreal where engines of 300 h.p. were installed. She plied for a season or two between Montreal and Halifax, and on a voyage to Boston was hailed with enthusiasm as the first steamship flying the Union Jack to enter an American port.

In 1833 the owners of the "Royal William" decided to send her to England to be sold, and in early August she sailed from Pictou, Nova Scotia. Still under her own power she reached Gravesend 25 days later. She encountered violent storms, the engines were partially disabled, but the stout ship and stouthearted Captain John McDougall held on their course.

The Pictou clearance papers of the "Royal William," which survive, give this information: "Royal William, 363 tons; whither bound, London; goods exported, 254 chaldrons (648 tons) coal, a box of stuffed birds, ship's spars, one box, one trunk, household furniture, a harp, seven passengers, all British. The steamer was sold to the Spanish government, renamed the "Yasael," and was the first steamship to fire a hostile shot when she was sent into an engagement in the bay of San Sebastian.

A tablet in honor of this Canadian ship which was the first to cross the Atlantic by steam power has an honoured place in the Parliament Building of Canada.
